Principles of Ethics and Personal Leadership

Principles of Ethics and Personal Leadership (PEPL) is a 16-hour course providing EMS and Mobile Integrated Healthcare practitioners at all levels with the knowledge and skills they need to effectively interact with their patients and their families, other medical personnel, coworkers, supervisors, and community residents at large.

The course assists students in identifying their personal responsibility and accountability for ethical decision-making and for the exercise of ethical servant leadership for themselves, their patients, and their profession. Many communities are exploring new models for delivering medical care to improve patient outcomes and reduce costs. Whether providing traditional emergency medical care, or mobile-based community health services, this course provides essential foundational training that advances the professional development of participants.

Students successfully completing the PEPL course will be eligible for continuing education credits.

Becoming A PEPL Instructor is Easy!

Use the new NAEMT Instructor Course to Complete the Steps

The NAEMT Instructor Course provides instructor candidates with the basic training and information needed to become an instructor for any of NAEMT's continuing education courses. This fully online program replaces the traditional classroom-based instructor courses, enabling educators to get new continuing education courses up and running faster and more efficiently.

To Become a PEPL Instructor, simply:

- 1 Submit a request letter, CV, and two letters of recommendation to education@naemt.org
- 2 Participate in a personal interview
- 3 Complete and pass the PEPL Provider Course and Facilitator Training
- 4 Submit an instructor application and successfully complete the NAEMT Instructor Course

Candidates who successfully complete the NAEMT Instructor Course are also eligible for 6 hours of continuing education through CECBEMS.
